

When I wanted to give up my fight against the cancer in 2012, the music of Patrizio Buanne saved my life. Even today his music is like a melody of hope that never fades away and that helps me never to lose hope in my heart again.

When the year 2012 started I thought that my life story would soon be over. But then the music of world star Patrizio Buanne was flying into my life like a butterfly of hope. When I heard him singing in the TV, everything changed within a few seconds. I will never forget this moment and I am so infinitely grateful that there is his music in my life. From one second to the other all hopelessness had turned into hope and I found new courage and new strength to fight this fight against the cancer again and months later I had won. Since then, his music has always helped me to find hope on hopeless days, was always my light of hope in the darkest night and helped me to believe in myself and my dreams never to give up. Whenever I listen to his music it gives me endless amount strength, energy and courage to continue on my way and that is the only reason why all these projects have been created since 2012. The music of world star Patrizio Buanne saved my life and even today is she for me like a melody of hope that never fades away and that helps me to never lose hope in my heart again.

When I listen to his mood songs I would always like to start dancing and when I listen to his ballads then they lay down like balm on my soul. Sometimes I was so tired after the chemo and while I lay in bed and listened to his music, then I had nevertheless sometimes the feeling as if I would dance, in the middle of a sea of musicnotes dance and for moments I could forget my illness, then I had the feeling as if I was healthy, I felt strong, his music gave me the feeling that soon everything would be good and that helped me to do not give up. When I listen to his CD's I always experience the most wonderful moments and it all started in 2012, when his music saved my life and until today it has enriched my life so much. His music helps me to look back without fear on the last years which were marked by health setbacks and further strokes of fate. I am incredibly grateful for the wonderful moments his music has given me. I could not travel far in the last years and my cancer and also immune disease determined my life, but always when I listened to his music it was as if this world was not so big anymore, not so far away, then I still had the feeling to be a part of all of it. Often I could fall asleep gently and well protected with his music and experienced the most beautiful dreams, had the feeling as if I would walk on a beautiful flower meadow full of colorful flowers and dance in the midst of hundreds of butterflies. Sometimes I dreamed of islands and the sea and could go swimming with dolphins and even if the dream was over sometime, so I had the feeling really a beautiful trip to have made, all this had me his music made possible. Still today the music of world star Patrizio Buanne is my daily companion and enables me to start every new day cheerfully, I just need to put one of his CD's in the CD player and I am happy. The last few years have been anything but easy, but thanks to his music I have been able to endure all this and become to this brave and strong person that I am today. I also owe it to his music that I did not become depressed by all these strokes of fate but rather am still a happy and positive person. Also all my projects would not exist, because only by his music I found the courage for it. Whenever I listened to his music then I had the feeling that everything in life is possible if you only believe in yourself and your own dreams. And he was always the greatest and most unique role model for me, because he was always brave enough to go his own way and only through this could this unique timeless music come into being. Despite all his successes, he has always remained true to himself and all this encourages me to go my own way, to believe in myself and my dreams, to live my dreams and at the same time to give more and more people courage and hope.

I dedicate all my projects with the greatest possible homage that I can to my hero and my greatest role model world star Patrizio Buanne. My love for his music will never end and my greatest respect and loyalty to this unique singer and entertainer will continue forever.
